

Phishing

Be cautious of clicking links or downloading attachments from someone, even if you know them. Phishing emails could include links directing you to infected websites or the attachment could execute malicious software.

When in doubt, delete.

